Bright Idea

A Newburyport, Massachusetts, kitchen morphed from dark and cramped to bright and open, with space enough to take care of the laundry—in style. The mesh-paneled cabinet (replacing an imposing pantry closet) cleverly disguises a stacked washer and dryer. A tiny prep/laundry sink tucks in beneath floating shelves anchored on an accent wall of custom-glazed tiles. And Benjamin Moore's Polished Slate paint washes the whole scene with warmth. **●
